
airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Z3Coupe - 2008/09/13 20:10

At SC Village in Corona, CA. As I haven't played for over 10 years until 2 weekends ago, and am now over the sore muscles bit, I am itching to go play again. But its no fun just being a single walk-on. So I am wondering if any of you in SoCal wants to go have at it this Saturday or Sunday. I'd rather Saturday, so I can have time to wear off the muscle aches before work on Monday :) It would be a nice break from LAG :)

=====

airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Daywanderer - 2008/09/13 20:10

Are there anyone from South California here at all? :) Daywanderer

=====

airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Z3Coupe - 2008/09/13 20:10

Daywanderer

=====

airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Andy Carabino - 2008/09/13 20:10

Me so far, I guess??? Me too. But I can't play this weekend.

=====

airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Z3Coupe - 2008/09/13 20:10

Me so far, I guess??? Me too. But I can't play this weekend.

=====

airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Ted Williams - 2008/09/13 20:10

Me so far, I guess??? Me too. But I can't play this weekend.

=====

airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Z3Coupe - 2008/09/13 20:10

Me so far, I guess??? Me too. But I can't play this weekend.

=====

airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Ted Williams - 2008/09/13 20:10

Me so far, I guess??? Me too. But I can't play this weekend.

=====
airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Z3Coupe - 2008/09/13 20:10

Me so far, I guess???

Me too. But I can't play this weekend.

=====
airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Alistair - 2008/09/13 20:10

Okay I was resisting the temptation to join in on this look at my bruises thread, but I canna tak it no more. I was at PB last weekend, first time in ages. Damn I forgot how painfull that was, those headshots are very sore. One knocked me clean off my feet as I was running for a barracade to shelter behind. I had to crawl the last few metres moaning like a kid. The best bit was at the end, last game was 4 of us defending a wooden two level fort with the other team 8 strong trying to get in. By this point they were all aware of the pain situation and reluctant to try and storm as they were easily picked off - and we had a heap of ammo left. Then, through the timber gaps, I spotted one foolhardy sole running full pelt for the fort entrance below me, I could not believe my luck. I must have let off around 50 pellets, with about a dozen hitting that foo square on the chest and hands. Back at base I obviously enquired who that brave person was - turns out it was Skins wife! Her knuckles were so bruised and swollen they had merged into one big long knuckle with blood seeping along the cracks. When Skin saw the state she was in he was like who the hell did that to you . She told him it was me and he just laughed, her face was tripping her. Now thats a buddy. Alistair www.GhostRecon.net Website of Ghost Recon dot net www.agr-s.com Website of Alt.Games.Rainbow-Six

=====
airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Z3Coupe - 2008/09/13 20:10

face was tripping her. Now thats a buddy. YES! I'd definatley go and buy them a pint or two for that!!!!!!! :) What I don't understand is why a lot of R6, DF, and CS players don't go out and play paintball too? PC games, specially simulations, are awesome. But I'd also think that it would be the next logical step, just like car racing sim nuts would want to go and race cars. Plus, it would be great to get off that damn chair, get out in the open air, get some physical exercise and play it for real (PAINTBALL, not hurting someone for real!!!!). It HAS become the 4th largest Extreme Sport in the world now. Sure would be nice to give it more recognition too if someday it might even become an added Olympic competition as well And think too, all that TEAM-WORK that we learn in R6, could be put to awesome use in PB! We'd dominate other groups that don't know the basics of working together or having a plan! So that too, is why I keep asking for fellow R6 players to come out and join me :)

=====
airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Daywanderer - 2008/09/13 20:10

Not everybody has paintball areas in their area, I've got quite a drive to get to the closest one. It's also quite expencive (at least in Norway), so the only way for it to be economical would be to purchase the equipment instead of renting it, and playing on a regular basis. I would do just that, but there's hardly any paintball players around here : Daywanderer

=====
airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Z3Coupe - 2008/09/13 20:10

but there's hardly any paintball players around here : Daywanderer

airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by nilz - 2008/09/13 20:10

and play paintball too? I like airsoft much better than paintball. - you get a real looking rifle you can hang at the wall in your living room when you're not playing (through playing these games I've slowly become a gun-nutter :)) - there's no paint (which comes in handy when you go on a 5-day event) - did I mention I like the guns much better? :) nilz

=====

airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Daywanderer - 2008/09/13 20:10

I agree, I'd much rather have an 6mm pellet-shooting MP5 than an ugly rifle that shoots huge balls of paint. There are some downsides though. You can't see who shot who, or if someone is shot at all, making it easier to cheat. You don't feel it as much when you're shot - if you're wearing tactical gear and armour you might not register getting hit at all. Getting shot and feeling pain makes the whole thing more enjoyable IMO (never tried pain(t)ball, but I can imagine..), as well as more realistic. If you're going for max realism then you'll act according to where you're hit, i.e. a knee-shot and you fake a limp, and if you're shot in the noggin you'll drop to the ground. With the added pain from the paintballs you won't have to fake it to the same degree as in airsoft, and if you take one in the forehead you probably won't have to fake it at all (see AI's post). A while back I saw some paintball guns that looked more or less like real M16s (in shape anyway). Wouldn't mind trying those. But obviously airsoft has nothing but real looking weapons, and a huge array of them too. I'm confident that nothing beats a well-played airsoft assault; one or two players providing suppression fire from LMGs, snipers and guys/gals with assault rifles picking off the enemy from medium-long range before the assaulters move in with SMGs and shotguns, breaching a small killhouse, tossing in some sort of airsoft grenades (I'm sure I've seen something like that), and going in. sigh Daywanderer

=====

airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by nilz - 2008/09/13 20:10

that), and going in. sigh So far, I haven't had the chance to play a big game yet. We had some really fun smaller games though. It was just like being in an episode of Tour of Duty, except much colder :) I've got a few small bits of kit missing and haven't actually ordered the AEG yet (electrically powered airsoft weapon). I need a full suit of Goretex and some mag pouches, all of which will arrive in the next few weeks. If everything goes according to plan I will own one of these next month: http://www.zerooneairsoft.com/sr16_pictures.htm As you can see, it's basically a Colt M4 with a full stock. In airsoft this has a big advantage, as one can fit a large battery in the full stock (so the weight of the gun is more balanced), rather than a mini-battery in the foregrip (making it front-heavy). The large battery will last you 1-2 days, while the mini-battery may need to be changed twice a day (which means taking the foregrip apart). It also comes with a the tactical vertical grip shown in the big photo. I've decided to make a 3-point sling myself, as I've found all the necessary clips and bits in a boating supplies store in town. I'll take some pictures next time I go skirmishing in the UK :) nilz

=====

airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Daywanderer - 2008/09/13 20:10

Beautiful... :) Daywanderer

=====

airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Z3Coupe - 2008/09/13 20:10

that), and going in. sigh And I do agree with you guys that the Airsoft guns look totally AWESOME! But that sport hasn't quite caught on here in the USA, even though we started making those guns first years ago. Now I have also heard they don't have the range a paintball gun does - that can be a limiting factor too, as I sure like playing in large fields and able to snipe. And the cleanup afterwards might be a factor too, unless the pellets are enviro friendly and all . . . And by the way, at I&I Sports in Carson, CA - they have a lot of these Airsoft guns, even the Steyer Aug and that weird looking Enfield L85A1!!!! Sure wouldn't mind getting that one to hang on the wall later :)

=====

airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Jester - 2008/09/13 20:10 like playing in large fields and able to snipe. And the cleanup afterwards might be a factor too, unless the pellets are enviro friendly and all . . . You can buy biodegradable bb's for them. They aren't too much more expensive. Jester jes...@agr-s.com <http://www.greywolf.tripod.com> - Jester's Alpha Group: Grey Wolf

=====

airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Sami Laaksonen - 2008/09/13 20:10

What I don't understand is why a lot of R6, DF, and CS players don't go out and play paintball too? PC games, specially simulations, are awesome. I haven't ever tried paintball... Instead I play airsoft A LOT, about 4-5 hours a day two times a week. I think airsoft is better than PB, as it's cheaper(at least the ammo), and because the guns are real. But there is on con for airsoft, after racing around in a house or in forest with my MP5 in hands, when there are some 20 other players, it's no fun playing R6 anymore ;) It just doesn't feel right enough anymore. PS. Ignore any typos, I've just came home from our latest skirmish...

=====

airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Daywanderer - 2008/09/13 20:10

Yeh, if I had people to play with, a place to play, and enough money for some decent equipment and weapons; I'd fear for my RS playing too. That would be good actually - less time spending money online, and more fresh air (shiver). All this Airsoft talk made me go check out a couple of Airsoft sites again. www.zerooneairsoft.com had this cool M134 gatling gun on the main site (saying it was out of production - #&%!). In the pictures section I saw a scoped G41 with retractable stock. Very, very nice. And the picture is excellent for my UO mod (expected to be out... sometime..). Daywanderer

=====

airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Alistair - 2008/09/13 20:10

Okay thats it, I am going to see what all this airsoft business is about. Hit me with the number one best website for airsoft newbies, good buddy :o)

=====

airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by Daywanderer - 2008/09/13 20:10

I'm still massively baffled of how you've managed to live for over thirty years and still don't know what Airsoft is :) You all know RS Retreat, yeh? Say hello to: <http://airsoft.3dretreat.com/> In order to save time for lazy buggers, here's the What is Airsoft? article: http://www.airsoftretreat.com/about_airsoft.asp Daywanderer

=====

airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by nilz - 2008/09/13 20:10

Sure wouldn't mind getting that one to hang on the wall later :) Definitely. I hate the AUG, but I love the looks of the Enfield...I've heard they're shite for skirmishes though, they tend to fall apart easily (apparently, that's a 'feature' that emulates the real steel version very well :)). nilz

=====

airsoft clips Anyone in So Cal want to play Paintball at SC Village This weekend???

Posted by nilz - 2008/09/13 20:10

You can buy biodegradable bb's for them. They aren't too much more expensive. Yeah, on some sites you are only allowed to use those. Good idea IMO. nilz

=====